

New Mark Set By 1000 Enrollment

Two Periods Assigned For Student Meetings

Two consecutive fifty-minute periods each week, the former 10:40 and 11:35 class periods on Friday, have been assigned exclusively as periods for class and extra-curricular activity meetings. The innovation appears for the first time on this year's class schedule.

The schedule has been so arranged by the Dean of Studies that no student will have class or lab scheduled during this two-period interval. While no attendance check will be taken to determine that each student is attending a class or club meeting, each student must be a member in good standing of at least one extra-curricular organization each year in order to fulfill his requirements for a degree.

First Period Next Week

The first of these scheduled periods will be held next Friday. Because most students will have class both before and after the Activity Meetings period, it is expected that last year's difficulties encountered in scheduling the meetings after school or at odd times in the late afternoons, will be avoided.

Incentive for the idea came in a front-page GREYHOUND editorial in April of last year. Concerned with the lack of steady membership in clubs and poor attendance at class meetings, the Student Council discussed the measure proposed in this editorial and submitted its recommendation to the Dean.

Meetings Scheduled Through Dean

Activity heads and class presidents wishing to schedule meetings for their organizations should do so through the Dean's Office. Some conflicts will be unavoidable, but

Freshman Elections

Election of temporary class officers for the incoming Freshman class will be held next Friday during the first of the "class meetings" periods.

The class will elect seven men by secret ballot. These seven will, in turn, choose a chairman. This board of officers will conduct class business until permanent elections are held in early October.

important class meetings will, as far as possible, be assigned times to avoid serious conflict with meetings of activities having a heavy membership from that class.

Each activity will be assigned a regular time to meet each Friday. This does not mean, it was pointed out, that each activity must meet each week, or at that particular time. The time and place will be assigned to them weekly, but meetings are scheduled by the organization heads individually.

Schedules for Friday's meetings will be posted in the GREYHOUND Daily Bulletin.

New Location For Dean's Offices On First Floor

A new suite of offices was completed early this month for the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S.J., Dean of Studies, and for the staff of the Registrar of the College. The offices occupy the former classroom 104 and the former office of the Dean of Discipline on the first floor of the Library Building.

In addition to the Dean's Office and a large office for the staff of the Registrar, the suite contains a records room.

During the Summer two new secretaries were added to the staff of the Registrar, Miss Cathrine MacDonald. They are: Miss Kathleen Grady and Miss Marjorie O'Neill.

Sophs Sponsor Welcoming Dance On September 19

The traditional Freshman Welcoming Dance will be sponsored by the Sophomore Class on Friday night, September 19, in the Gymnasium from 9 'til 1. Plans for the dance were announced by Sophomore Class President James Bowen early this week.

Dress Is Informal

The dance will be the first social event of the College's Fall season. All freshmen will be expected to attend.

While details of the affair are not definite as yet, tickets will probably be priced at $1.25. They will go on sale on Monday.

The orchestra for the dance has not yet been announced. Posters indicating final ticket price and orchestra will be posted on the bulletin board on Monday.

Novelty Acts

Plans have been made for between-music entertainment at the dance. Piano novelties and magic acts will be part of the program. The snack bar in the basement of the Gymnasium will be open to serve refreshments.

"First come first served will be the rule on tickets," said Mr. Bowen. "We simply won't have enough tickets for all those who would like to attend. Priority will be given to the Freshman and Sophomore classes. Ticket sales will be limited to 300.

"Tickets will go on sale to the Freshman class only, on Monday. On Tuesday, tickets will be available to members of the Sophomore class. On Wednesday they will go on general sale."

Liquor Regulation

(The school rule that no alcoholic beverages will be brought to any dance held on the campus is still in effect. Persons found violating this rule will be subject to expulsion. The Student Council is cooperating with the Faculty in enforcing the regulation.)

Freshman Class Of 330 Breaks All Records

Loyola's enrollment passed the 1000 mark this week with the matriculation of a record-breaking Freshman Class of 330. The new class, the first since 1945 having a majority of non-veterans, registered on September 2 and 3. The enrollment of such a large class was made possible by the completion of the new class room building in the dell.

Members of the Sophomore Class registered on September 4 and 5, and upperclassmen on September 6. Regular classes began on Tuesday of this week.

Majority Are Science Students

The majority of the members of the new Freshman Class are enrolled in the B. S. I course with majors in Physics, Chemistry or Biology. There is also a sizeable increase in the number of students taking the Arts courses as compared with classes of previous years.

In keeping with the policy of the College the great majority of Freshmen are residents of Maryland. However, approximately a dozen live out of the State and one applicant was accepted from Italy.

Under the present three year schedule, the new Freshman Class will graduate in July 1950 after completing six regular semesters and three spring terms.

Over 600 Turned Down

For every new student beginning classes at Evergreen this week, approximately two were turned down because of over-crowded conditions. Some of the members of the Freshman Class have been on the waiting list for several semesters.

Included in the number of those refused admission were between 300 and 400 students desiring to transfer from other colleges and universities in this area.

Mass Dedicates Academic Year

Loyola's traditional solemn opening of the school year, the Mass of the Holy Ghost was held this morning in the Cathedral. The entire student body attended the Mass.

The Mass represents a formal dedication of the academic year to God. Prayers for inspiration and guidance were offered to the Holy Ghost. A brief sermon by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., Rector of Loyola, was delivered after the Mass.

This custom perpetuates a tradition which has continued from the Middle Ages, when it was known familiarly to the faithful as the Red Mass, from the color of the vestments worn on the occasion.

Vatican Choir Visits Loyola; Rehearses on Front Lawn

The Vatican Choir visited Evergreen twice during their concert stop in Baltimore on August 3. The singers, under the direction of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Licino Refice, are engaged in a four month tour of 99 of the principal cities of North America.

On the evening before their engagement in the Municipal Stadium, the 30 adult members of the choir attended a reception given by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., Rector of Loyola College.

On the day of the concert, the entire choir assembled at Evergreen and rehearsed the evening's program on the lawn in front of Faculty House.

Dr. de Balla Joins Faculty

Dr. Boris de Balla, the brother of Dr. Valentine de Balla who has been teaching in the Political Science Department of the Loyola College Evening School during the past year, has joined the Evening School Faculty.

Dr. de Balla will teach a course in European Catholic Literature on Wednesday evenings, from 8:20 to 10:05 p.m., during the September to January semester.

Course Outlined

His course will cover Nineteenth Century materialism and liberalism; the pioneering work of Bloy, Bourget and Huysmans; the later leaders, Peguy, Claudel, Undset, Chesterton, Papini, Werfel, Mauriac, Maritain and Bernanos.

Dr. de Balla is a native of Hungary, and studied at the University of Pecs, where he received his Doctor's degree in 1938. After a period in the office of the Hungarian Prime Minister, he served in the Hungarian Diplomatic Service in Brussels, Madrid, Switzerland and Paris.

Books Listed

Among Dr. de Balla's works are The Legend of Fruegen, Cadet Nicky, The Way of Christian Spirit, The Wounded, and Diary of A Diplomat in Brussels.

Further Evening School Faculty changes and curriculum information will be found on page 3.

News In Brief

A revised edition of The Student Handbook appeared this week. It was brought up to date during the Summer. A copy is available for every member of the student body. New catalogues for both the Day School and the Evening School of Adult Education were published during the summer.

* * * *

Dr. Valentine De Balla, a member of the faculty of the Loyola Evening School, will address a meeting of the CSMC in Cathedral School at 8:15 p.m. tonight.

ALUMNI OFFICE

In case you have been overlooked by the Association in recent weeks, please excuse the oversight which has been due to the upset condition of the Alumni Office. The old office in the Science Building has been taken over by the expanding Physics Department. The Alumni Association will soon begin to function from new quarters located in the Faculty Building. Office space has been made on the second floor and desk space has been assigned to the Association. Within the next few days a new secretary will be hired and the office will be ready to serve the members. We ask once again that all items of Alumni news, notices of marriages, births, deaths, degrees received, new positions, changes of address, etc., be reported to the Alumni Office. [Only in this way will the Association receive the full benefit of the Alumni Office.]

SMOKER

Be sure to keep October 18 as an open-night on your calendar. October 18 is the date of the Annual Alumni Smoker which is to be a real evening of enjoyable entertainment for all. Chairman William J. O'Donnell announces that the feature of the evening will be boxing by members of the Police Department Boys Clubs, with other forms of entertainment provided throughout the evening. Those who have attended previous smokers know that the words "food and refreshments" mean a real treat.

Under the general chairmanship of William J. O'Donnell, the following committees are at work preparing for the occasion: Tickets, John E. Sweitzer and Edward W. Stevenson; Food and Refreshments, Jerome J. Egan, Frank Gisriel, Dr. Clarence Rogers, George J. Miller; Games and Entertainment, Frank Muth, J. Joseph Curran, Jack Kernan, John W. Farrell; Reception, Issac S. George, Dr. J. Albert Chatard; Raffle, Carl F. Gottschalk, Lingard I. Whiteford; Publicity, William J. O'Donnell, Edward A. Doehler.

NEW GREYHOUND BILLING

Beginning with the present scholastic year, changes are being made in the publication and billing of THE GREYHOUND. Issues will appear more frequently and the subscription rate will be increased to $2.00 for the year beginning in September and ending in July. In the future all billing will be done directly by the staff of THE GREYHOUND. Alumni members will no longer pay their subscriptions through the Alumni Office.

Alumni members who have subscribed to THE GREYHOUND for 1947 through the Alumni Office will continue to receive their copies for the remainder of the year. Other members will be billed by the Greyhound Office this month.

special Freshman Regulations. However, all but married veterans are required to pay the two dollar fee. All will wear the pup cap and tie.

The entire Sophomore Class will aid in the enforcement of the regulations. As in past years the duration of hazing will depend on the outcome of a Soph-Freshmen athletic contest. The date set for the contest will be announced within the next few weeks.

As has been the custom during the War years, there will be no off-campus hazing. This, according to one member of the Vigilance Committee, generally resulted in "hazing" innocent Baltimoreans along with the pups.

Building In Dell Now In Use

Evergreen's 'Building in the Dell' was officially turned over to Loyola College on Tuesday, September 9. The completion of the new building, containing five classrooms and nine offices, makes possible the expansion of student enrollment to approximately 1100 in the day school and over 500 in the evening school.

Classrooms in the new building are numbered 1-D to 5-D (for Dell) from the west end of the building to the east end. The building is heated by an oil furnace contained in a room projecting from the north wall.

Contains Discipline Office

The office of the Dean of Men, formerly located in the Library Building, has been moved to the new building. A second Discipline office has been established on the first floor of the Science Building. The main purpose of this office is to care for the distribution of lockers. There is a locker available for every student in the basement of the Science Building.

Activities Office Allotted

A suite of offices for the use of the staffs of the Evergreen Quarterly, the Evergreen Annual and the Student Council has been set up in the basement of Faculty House. The office contains a small room for the president of the student body, with filing cabinets and shelf space, and a larger room containing desks for the editors of the Quarterly and Year Book. There are also other desks and filing cabinets for the records of both publications.

The office which is located to the right of classroom 1-F, was used as the office of the construction company during the erection of the Building in the Dell.

New lockers for athletic equipment have been installed in the Gymnasium to meet the needs of the increased student body. Like the new lockers in the Science Building, they have combination locks.

Rector Returns From Studying Huron Indians

Completing a three week study of the civilization of the Huron Indians in Canada, the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., president of Loyola College, returned to Evergreen early last week.

Father Talbot joined several other priests engaged in excavating at the sites of Huron villages in southern Canada. He left Baltimore by plane on August 18.

Tribe Exterminated In 1650

From bones gathered from a Huron burial pit in one of the villages the scientists are constructing a picture of the physical characteristics of the Huron tribe. The tribe itself was exterminated in 1650 by raiding Iroquois from what is now upper New York State. A number of contemporary records, maintained by Jesuit missionaries, have served as a guide to the location of the villages.

Father Talbot, who was appointed president of Loyola in July, is the author of Saint Among Savages, an account of the life of St. Isaac Jogues, S.J., among the Iroquois Indians. During the past few years he has been preparing further books on the pioneers of New France in the seventeenth century, including Saint John de Brebeuf, S.J., and Champlain.

Wrote Dramatic Scenes

Among his other books are Shining in Darkness, a series of dramatic scenes of Christmas and Easter, Jesuit Education in Philadelphia and Richard Tierney, S.J. He has also edited and published anthologies of verse and literary criticism.

Before coming to Loyola, Father Talbot was engaged in writing and research at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C. Previous to 1944, he was editor-in-chief of America, a Catholic Review of the week.

Rector's Office Now On Second Floor

Movement of the Rector's Office from its former first floor position to a new location on the second floor of Faculty House was completed during the Summer holidays.

The new office is near the head of the main staircase, just inside the North entrance of the Faculty House.

An anteroom to the office contains desks for the Alumni Association and Fr. Talbot's two secretaries, Miss Jane Kennedy and Miss Cecilia Allen.

Appointments to see the Rector may be secured at the first floor information desk in the Faculty House.

Fifteen Instructors Added To Faculty

New additions to the faculty of Loyola College have brought the total number of professors and instructors presently teaching at Evergreen to 75. The number includes three new Jesuit and twelve new lay teachers.

The Rev. Atlee F. X. Devereaux, S. J., has been assigned to the teaching staff. Father Devereaux has been stationed at St. Ignatius' Church, Baltimore. The Rev. John G. Fay, S. J., will teach Biology and Mr. John C. Svek, S. J., has joined the Business Department.

Twelve New Lay Instructors

Dr. William H. McHugh was appointed to head the Department of Education early in the Summer. Dr. William D. Hoyt, Jr., who received his doctorate from the Johns Hopkins University in 1940, and Mr. Harry W. Kirwin, a candidate for Ph. D. at Fordham University, have been appointed to the History Department.

Mr. H. O. Buffington, who holds an M. B. B. A. from Harvard University, has joined the Business Department. Mr. Leslie Cohen has been assigned to the Physics Department. Mr. Cohen is taking graduate studies in Physics at the Johns Hopkins University. Mr. Hill, a new addition to the Mathematics Department, is also in the graduate school of Hopkins.

Mueller To Teach Mathematics

Mr. Francis J. Mueller, who graduated from Loyola in 1943, has joined the Mathematics Department. He is also assisting Coach Emil Reitz as director of intramural athletics.

Mr. James Perrott and Mr. John Pugh have been appointed full time instructors of English. Both had taught Oral English in the Spring Term. Mr. Perrott has also been assigned the post of Assistant Dramatic Coach to assist Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J. Mr. George T. Artola, who formerly taught Spanish on a part time basis, has joined the Language Department as a full time instructor. Mr. Artola is a candidate for Ph. D. at the Johns Hopkins University.

Provenza Assigned To Biology

Another candidate for Ph. D. at the Johns Hopkins University, Mr. Vincent Provenza will teach Biology. Mr. J. Carroll Power, '33, has been appointed part time instructor of Business Law. Mr. Power is a former editor of THE GREYHOUND.

Mr. David J. Snyder has joined the Classics Department. Mr. Snyder will teach Latin and English.

Walsh To Teach Literature

Mr. John B. Walsh, a candidate for Ph. D. at the Johns Hopkins University has been assigned to teach Classics and Literature.

Mr. Allan Amtidel has joined the Mathematics Department and Mr. Karl Lischka has been assigned to teach Languages and Literature.

500 Enroll In Evening School

Registration at Loyola's Evening School of Adult Education is expected to exceed the 500 mark, and the number of Faculty members has been increased to over 70, the Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., Dean of the Evening School, announced this week.

New Courses Added

Four courses not previously presented in the night session have been added to the curriculum, embracing the fields of College Mathematics and European Catholic Literature.

In addition to the regular 6:30 to 8:15 and 8:20 to 10:05 periods, a 4:10 to 5:55 p. m. period has been inaugurated to accommodate the increased student body and number of courses offered.

A large number of the students registered are working toward the B. S. II and B. S. S. (Bachelor of Science in Social Studies) degrees offered by the evening school.

New Personnel

Personnel added to the Evening School Faculty include Dr. Boris de Balla (see page 2); Mr. James A. Perrott, who will teach Oral English; Mr. David J. Snyder, Effective Writing and English Literature; and Mr. Francis J. Mueller, Jr., College Mathematics.

Entire Loyola Staff Convenes At Dinner

Loyola's professors and instructors, both Jesuit and lay, convened with the College Administration at a dinner meeting held in the Oak Room of the Library Building on Monday, September 8.

Members of the faculty were addressed by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., the President of Loyola, and the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of Studies. Matters of policy and curriculum for the coming year were discussed.

Fifty Freshmen Apply For Staff Membership

Upwards of fifty members were added to the staff of THE GREYHOUND at meetings held last Monday and Tuesday afternoons. The majority of the new additions are freshmen. Openings are still available in all departments of the paper. Students desiring membership should apply through any member of the editorial board or the Moderator.

Student Activities Plan Busy Seasons

Plans for increased membership and activity were announced early this week by heads of the nineteen extra-curricular activities now organized on the campus.

The presidents feel that membership in most activities will nearly double because of the large freshman registration and the mid-morning periods assigned for activity meetings (see page 1).

Acting on that presumption, the Bellarmine Debating Society has already scheduled 50 intercollegiate debates for the coming term, including a tentative October 21 engagement with Oxford University, England. (President of Debating, Edward F. Shea).

The Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society plans to sponsor a student produced one-act play each month, beginning in early October. (President, Austin Byrd)

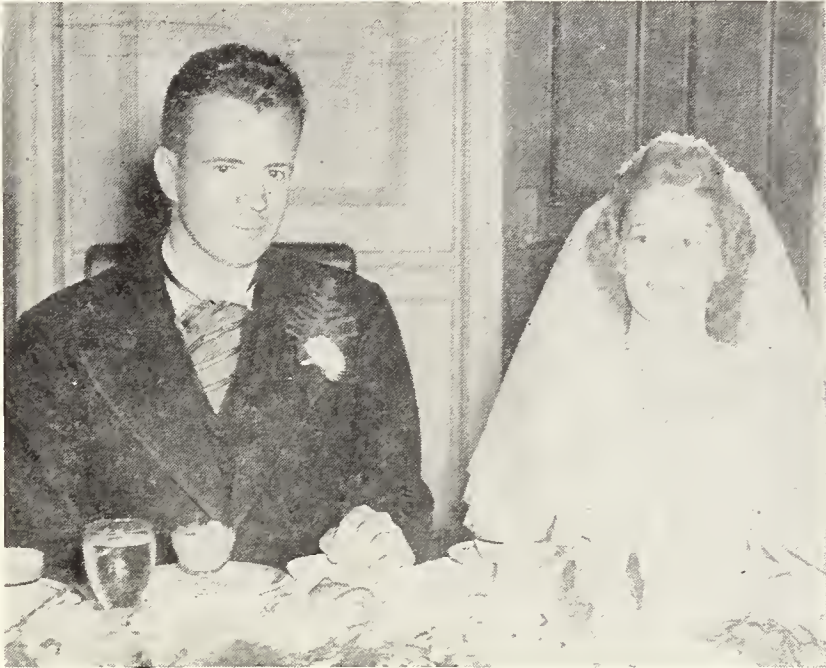

IRC Attends Conferences

The International Relations Club (President, Edward Barrett) plans to attend two regional conferences of the Federated IRC's of this district during the coming term.

The Contract Bridge Club (President, Robert Custer) and the Chess Club (President, Thomas Comber) will continue inter-school and intercollegiate play instructions to neophytes in the play of both games.

Other Clubs

Other clubs now active about which no information is at present available are the Glee Club, directed by Mr. Felice Iula; the Social Science Club, the Chemistry Club, directed by the Rev. Edward Hauber, S. J.; Mathematics Club and Physics Academy (both headed by James O'Neill); the Mendel Club, directed by the Rev. Joseph Didusch, S. J.; Senior Sodality, Frank Kunkel, prefect; Junior Sodality, Tom Daniels, prefect; Veterans' Club, Richard Hartman, president; History Academy, Richard Rebbert, president; the Evergreen Yearbook, Quarterly, and Greyhound are mentioned elsewhere in the paper.

Student President Heads List Of Summer Nuptials

Dudley M. Shoemaker, president of the student body, was married to Miss Charlotte G. Otter on August 23. The Nuptial Mass was said at St. Michael's Church, Overlea.

Present at the ceremony and the breakfast following were a large number of Loyolans. Charles J. Shoemaker, brother of the groom, was best man, and Austin L. Byrd acted as an usher.

A stag party at the Rathskeller on the Wednesday before the ceremony was held in Shoemaker's honor by a number of his classmates.

The former Miss Otter graduated from I. N. D. in 1940. She met Dudley at a C. S. M. C. oratorical contest.

Gerald G. Schafer exchanged vows with Miss Margaret Ann Sipp on the same day at the Shrine of the Little Flower.

On July 26 three more Loyolans went to the altar. Joseph C. Jenkins married Miss Sarah Catherine Brady at Corpus Christi Church. Jon C. Crosby married Miss Anne Grimes at St. Bartholomew's Church. Theodore J. Tremper walked down the aisle of Immaculate Conception Church with a former classmate from Towson Catholic High, Miss Mary Rose Morgan.

Editorials

The Reader's Right

One of our regular features, the Letters to the Editor column, will be published in the next issue. Students are invited to put their comments and criticisms of campus affairs on paper and send them to the editor of THE GREYHOUND. All letters must be signed to appear in the column.

Better Late Than Never

We probably should have mentioned it last year, when the Student Council Constitution was in the process of revision, but we still fail to understand why class presidents get the same vote in Council decisions as activity presidents do.

Present rules provide that council members—whether they represent 2 or 200 students—each receive one vote. Council decisions should, of course, reflect the opinion of the student body on the matter at hand. This hardly seems possible under a system where a well knit group of 20 or 30 could defeat a motion backed by the large majority of the student body, but which majority is represented by only two or three council members.

Basketball Blues

This year's basketball ticket regulations had us worried for quite a while (see page seven). The idea of reporting 45 minutes before game time with chit book and maybe date (see page seven again) in hand didn't exactly appeal, especially for week night games.

The only difficulty with our complaint is that we couldn't figure out any better system of ticket distribution ourselves. The Athletic Office claims, and they ought to know, that 1. Scalping of tickets last year reached forbidding proportions, and 2. that never more than ¾ of the student body attended any one game, although many of those in absence did get tickets before the game, only to change their minds about going afterwards. The only way to make sure that reserved seats are used is to have them bought at the door.

The date question poses an unsolvable problem: If students are allowed to bring dates (and most students will bring them to already crowded weekend games), then somebody isn't going to get a seat unless he parks himself in line sometime around noon. On the other hand, it's rather lonely to go off to Sobol's after a game in merely male company. Frankly, we won't bother voting on that one. You can't win.

Speaking of Sobol's

Nicotine fiends are invited to join a buyer's strike from Adolph's 25 cent cigarette machine. Come well heeled with weeds, go without, or be prepared to pay two dimes and a nickel for a pack—often without matches! (Final blow.)

Boarding On $65 Per

A rarer aspect of the $65 monthly subsistence business swam more prominently than usual into our ken when several freshman out of towners attempted to get rooms in the neighborhood of the campus. The registrar of the college keeps a file of homes willing to take in boarders on York Road and the close-to-college sides of Guilford and Homeland. Room rent averages nine or ten dollars a week, with breakfast. Figuring on a basis of $36 per month for a room and $1 a day for the two other meals, we find the hapless veteran already over his monthly check without ever buying a shoestring or an after dinner beer.

Not To Be Nasty, But —

Suggested Fall reading for members of the Evergreen Club, organized last term: "No activity or organization,—social, academic, athletic, or of whatever nature—conducted or participated in by students of the College, may be directly or indirectly identified with Loyola College without the definite and explicit approval of the college authorities, granted through the Student Council." (from page 21, the Student's Handbook)

This rule, while not generally known, will certainly be invoked in the case of so flagrant a violation as the unrecognized Evergreen Club. Parties interested may make application for permission to use the name Evergreen Club through the President of the Student Body or any member of the Student Council.

Physician Heals Himself

A friend of ours, supporting himself by Club 52-20 gratuities this summer, received a postcard from the nastier part of the organization saying they had a job for him. Calling at the Guilford Avenue offices of the club as per orders, and finding that the job was not at all in his line (had something to do with work), he asked the interviewer, in an off-hand manner, whether there was a large turnover in employees of the Employment service itself as a result of coming into contact with so many tempting job offers.

The interviewer proceeded to confide that he was leaving for New York that day to see about a public relations position paying $5000 a year, which had come into the office for offering to Veterans.

Here We Go Again

This year, THE GREYHOUND will continue to publish an eight-page issue every other Friday. Last year some issues were skipped because of holidays and periods of examinations. As far as possible, no exceptions will be made to the alternate Friday rule this year.

We again invite criticism and comment from the student body in the form of personal talks or notes for the editors. We will do our level best to make THE GREYHOUND as good as we can, but our own best will not be enough without your help.

Cathedral Mass

The decision to hold the traditional Mass of the Holy Ghost in the Basilica of the Assumption this morning represents a living example of the unity which exists between Loyola College and the Archdioceses of Baltimore and Washington. Catholic alumni of Loyola have always helped form the backbone of Catholic laymen's organizations in Baltimore. With increased enrollment this function of our alumni will increase proportionately.

The Moneyman

—Thomas Costain

Riding near the crest of the current flood of historical novels is The Moneyman, a new book by Thomas Costain. The author of The Black Rose resurrects in his latest work the dim years following the passing of Joan of Arc at the time of England's defeat in the Hundred Year's War.

It concerns personally one Jacques Coeur, treasurer to King Charles the Seventh of France. Moneyman Coeur financed privately the purchase of the first French cannons, incurred the displeasure of the usual bad-men who lusted for power, was brought to trial for poisoning the King's mistress, and was saved by a stroke of luck, in that order.

Costain plays to the hilt the trial scene, the point of history upon which the book was based. Perjury and falsification of evidence make the proceedings a farce; and when the prisoner is not allowed to speak, it is only by an accident that the truth is revealed and Coeur is saved almost at the brink of the gallows.

Flaws in historical novels seem to follow as well-known a pattern as their plots. So rarely does one find a book of this type that is distinctive that criticism might almost be written before the book appears.

Costain's is no exception. To those who have ceased to take this form of fiction seriously, it is a mediocre, commercial work of fiction with a standard plot and theme. To those who enjoy historical novels, the author's swift plot and fast-moving action provide above-average reading, although his style is irritating at times. His sub-plot, a variation on the Cinderella theme, has become unbearably hackneyed in recent years, but despite this and the usual distortion of facts the book rises above the tidal wave of shady fiction currently gutting the market.

A S N Alumni Plan Calendar, Elect Officers

With the election of new officers, the induction of its first honorary member and the approval of three Alumni of the Class of 1947, Alpha Sigma Nu Alumni Club launched forth on its second year of activity. Occasion was the second Annual Business Meeting on Sunday, September 7, at Loyola College.

To Charles Hemelt went the office of President, succeeding George Miller, Jr. Carl Gottschalk was chosen Vice-President; Harold Molz, Secretary; Edwin Steffy, Treasurer, and Francis Mueller and Robert Bachman, Directors. Miller, as retiring President, automatically becomes the third Director.

Dr. J. Albert Chatard, '98, became the first Honorary Member voted into Alpha Sigma Nu by the Club. Dr. Chatard received his gold ASN key and certificate at the meeting.

William Cahill, Jr., Bernard Saltysiak and Albert Sehlstedt, all ASN men of the class of 1947 declared their intentions of becoming Alumni Club members and were voted into the Club.

Paul Schaub, '40, who is convalescing, is to be inducted into the Club by a special committee at his home.

Social calendar for the Club's activities and chairmen are:

- Oct. 4—Weiner Roast, Ed Steffy
- Nov. 1—Dance, Charlie Hemelt
- Dec. 31—New Year's Party, Daniel Bathon
- Feb. 14—Second Annual Valentine Dance, Joe Gessler
- March—Ice Skating Party, Bob Martin
- April—Spring Dance, Richard Lerch

Alumni Have New Office

The office of the Alumni Association of Loyola College has been moved from the second floor of the Science Building to Faculty House. The purpose of the move is to provide a closer liaison between the office of the President of the College and the Alumni Association.

Space in the outer office of the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., president of Loyola, has been allotted to the Association. Father Talbot's office is on the second floor of Faculty House.

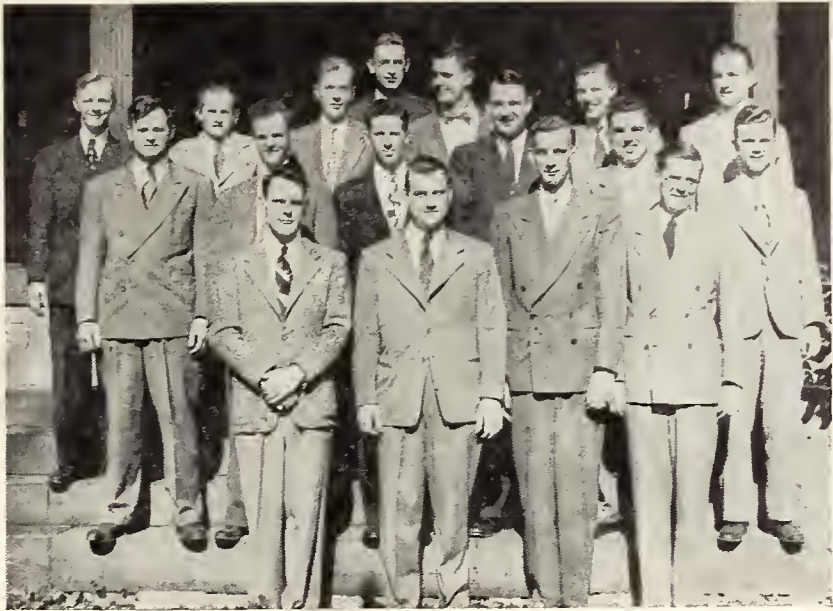

A full time secretary employed by the Alumni Association will work in the outer office with the secretaries of the president. Dr. Edward A. Doehler, '30, professor of history at Mt. St. Agnes College and secretary of the Alumni Association, will be present in the office every afternoon.

The Alumni Office was first established in the Science Building in February 1946. Mr. Jerome J. Egan, '32, is president of the Alumni Association. Mr. Egan was elected in October 1946.

Loyola Quarterly Editors Schedule Mid-Fall Issue

Loyola's literary magazine, the "Evergreen Quarterly" is seeking contributions for its mid-Fall edition. Short stories, articles and poems written by members of the student body may be submitted at the Evergreen office in the basement of Faculty House, to the manager of the book store or to the editor or managing editor of "The Greyhound." The deadline for contributions has been set at Friday, October 3.

The appearance of the first issue of the revived Evergreen brought favorable notices in the local press and resulted in letters from several Baltimore literary figures. Mr. Robert P. Harris, editor of House, Gardens and People, a local monthly magazine praised the general make-up and articles in the new publication and requested permission to reprint one of the engravings in his September issue. Mr. Henry L. Mencken, prominent Baltimore journalist and author (The American Language, Newspaper Days, etc.) also approved of the typography and content of the magazine and offered suggestions and criticisms.

Mr. Folger McKinsey, poet laureate of The Morning Sun cited two of the poems in the first issue as being particularly fine. The editors also received letters from The New Yorker and several other publications.

Orientation Program Held For New Freshmen

A week of orientation for college was conducted last week by the Administration of Loyola for the new Freshman Class. The program which included talks by faculty and student heads of various Evergreen extra-curricular activities, was held one week in advance of regular class.

The Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of Studies, opened the program with an address of welcome to the assembled Freshman Class in the Gymnasium.

Psychological Exam Given

The class was divided into three groups in order that one group might take a psychological examination while another group was becoming acquainted with the College Library and a third was hearing an explanation of the academic curriculum of Loyola.

Council Resumes Work; Occupies New Office

The Student Council will begin this term's activity with over $150 in its treasury and a credit of $250 against the September freshman class for last year's caps and ties.

A profit of over $130 was realized on the "Christmas In July" dance sponsored by the Council last July 12. Two hundred and thirty couples were in attendance.

Results of the Graduate Record Examination received during the Summer give Loyola a General Educational Index slightly higher than the average of all other colleges and universities tested, it was revealed by the Office of the Dean.

The best field at Evergreen, according to the examination results, is the Physical Sciences. In addition to science, Loyola students taking the examination also made higher than average marks in General Mathematics, Vocabulary, Social Studies, Biology and Effectiveness of Expression, in that order.

Loyola students were slightly below average in the parts of the examination devoted to Literature and the Arts.

The Graduate Record Examination was given to members of the Junior and Senior Class on May 2 and 3. Besides the general classification tests, every student took tests in his major field of study.

Constitution Revised

Revision of the Council's Constitution climaxed Spring activity of the group last term. The revised constitution has been printed in full in the new Student Handbook, distributed this week.

Special attention was given to the sections of the constitution dealing with class elections systems and the eligibility of upperclassmen to the office of president of the student body.

Office Obtained

An office for the combined use of the Student Council, the Evergreen Quarterly, and the Yearbook has been obtained. It is located in the basement of Faculty House. Its entrance is at the East side of Faculty House.

Schedules of Council members are at present being examined to determine a time for this year's weekly meetings. Meetings last year were held in the President's office on Mondays at 12:30. Place for meetings is expected to remain the same, in the first floor Faculty House parlor, formerly the Rector's office.

Orientate Freshmen

Council activity for this term began unofficially when Council members introduced the incoming Freshman class to the college and its various extra-curricular organizations on Thursday and Friday of last week during the Freshman Orientation Course (page 5).

One of the first problems on the calendar of the Student Council will be the selection of a new lay faculty moderator to replace Dr. Edward A. Doehler, '30, who resigned from the faculty of the Day School in July.

Running With The Hounds

by Spence Davidson

Franny Mueller, who has been given a desk in the Athletic Office and the very high-sounding title of Director of Intramural Athletics, deserves a large share of credit. During the Summer, Franny drew up plans for a much wider and much more interesting intramural set-up than any the College has ever known before. It covers practically any sport or form of recreation that would appeal to the students. On the surface this sounds easy, but there were more difficulties in it than meet the eye. Foremost of the bugaboos that faced Franny was the old problem of conflicting schedules that has been the swansong of similar programs in the past. Franny is confident that he has that one licked.

Now that the time has come for his plans to move from paper to the real thing, another equally large difficulty confronts him. That, in words of one syllable, is the response to his scheme on the part of the students. If no one decides to participate, the most perfect intramural system has as much chance to succeed as the proverbial snowball.

Upperclassmen should have no difficulty in making up teams from among their friends to play in the various leagues. Those Freshmen who still feel a little strange and possibly a little lonely may not know enough people to form a team. If that's the case drop into THE GREYHOUND office and see me. If enough come in, we can make up teams composed solely of lonely Freshman. You'll find this one of the quickest ways to get over the loneliness, make some friends and get into the spirit of things.

If, incidentally, you look down the list of intramural sports and find nothing interesting, but can think of something you'd like to participate in, go see Franny. He's willing to form an intramural league in any activity if enough people want to play that particular game.

"We'll even form a beanbag league if there are enough guys around who want to play," said Franny, "and you can quote me on that!"

There's your cue, men. Anybody got a beanbag?

When Bill Carroll walked to the mound up at the Polo Grounds last month, wiped his hand off on a rosin bag, and delivered his initial pitch in the All-Star game, he became the first Loyola athlete ever to be televised. This little piece of information may not be as world-shaking as the Johnstown Flood, but nevertheless it is still nice to know.

To record the occasion suitably for posterity, we posted ourselves on the night of the game in a Greenmount Avenue bistro which has recently installed a television set for the enjoyment of its clients and a resultant increase in the owner's till of coins of the realm. Armed with paper, pencil and an extremely dry whistle, we found a spot at the bar and awaited the opening move on the part of both the bartender and the National Broadcasting Company.

The bartender, luckily, was first on the scene. He had scarcely knocked the excess foam from a tall glass of lager, however, when the television set roared into action with a series of bloopers and bleeps and the evening's festivities were on.

Since the game was still ten minutes away, we were taken on a tour of the crowd, pausing three times in the bleachers, evidently to see if we could locate some relative of the cameraman who was no doubt supposed to be sitting there. We couldn't and passed on, stopping finally to watch the grounds-keeper trim tall grass along the first base line.

Light suddenly dawned for the patron at our left. "Thash the Polagrounds" he murmured, apparently eight beers and five television broadcasts ahead of us. He drove his point home by pouring the contents of his glass up our sleeve. When the U. S. All-Stars took the field he was moved to speak again. "Thash the Giants" he decided, completing the sleeve design with what was left in the glass.

We tried to show him the error of his ways but to no avail, and he was considerably surprised, seconds later, to find Johnny Mize looking so youthful and clean-shaven. He was also puzzled over whom the Giants were playing until another customer explained that it was a special exhibition game with the San Francisco Seals. That satisfied him for the rest of the evening.

As for Bill Carroll, he showed up unusually well on the screen. Fabian Bachrach could undoubtedly have done a more proficient job of capturing his likeness, but even so, television is here to stay. Which should make RCA very happy.

Coaches of both Fall and Winter sports meet with Athletic Director Emil "Lefty" Reitz to plot the course for Greyhound athletics this year. Left to right they are: Franny Mueller, newly appointed Intramural director, Reitz, Bishop Baker, who adds soccer to his duties as Graduate Manager of Athletics, Phil Goodman, who continues as wrestling coach, and Bill McElroy, named as cross-country coach this year.

McElroy Will Coach Cross-Country Team

Mr. William McElroy, who took charge of the track team in mid-season last Spring, has been named coach of the cross-country team this year, according to Athletic Director Lefty Reitz. Jim Norris, last year's student coach, will assist him.

When McElroy calls his first practice he will be greeted by a quartet of seasoned performers from last year's thinclad team. Foremost among them is George Brown, captain of the team, who took first honors in all dual meets last year and suffered his lone defeat in the Mason-Dixon Conference championship meet in Washington, finishing third.

Larry Atkinson, another of last year's stronger runners, will run again for the Hounds as will Jim Mitchell and Jim Kaufman. Other candidates are expected from among the new men entering school this year.

Sports Briefs

Phil Lohrey, ex-Greyhound athlete who left Loyola to fill Doc Blanchard's place at West Point, reports that he's on the plebe football team. Phil describes things at the Academy as "really tough."

Two more Greyhounds tread the middle aisle during the Summer. Frank Scrivener, outstanding performer on the championship tennis team last Spring, and Jim Bailey of the basketball team both spent their vacations getting married.

The new surface for the tennis courts was completed during vacation and the courts are again ready for use. The diamond was also relaid in order to lengthen right field and minimize the number of "going, going, there she goes!" balls hit by left-handers.

When the Greyhounds take the floor for their basketball games this year there should be a lot of changes around, according to Lefty Reitz. The seating capacity will be greatly increased and glass backboards will be up.

Nine Contests Scheduled For Soccer Squad

Bish Baker, coach of the Greyhound soccer team, has set his first practice session of this year's squad for September 15, next Monday afternoon. All students who wish to play soccer should report at this time.

Bish finds himself with practically all of last year's players back in school. Only three men of the 1946 edition of the team will not return. Jim Murphy has dropped out of Loyola to enter law school and Pete Starlings and Al Filbert have also left.

Veterans Return

Returning for another campaign are Henry Linz, Bill Linz, Harry Bullington, Buns Vidali, Gene Seltzer, John Haas, John Boone, Bill Grill, Joe Boulay, Charles Besche, Clarence Beane, Jim Laster and Dick Tompkins.

New men expected out are Tommy Lind, Johnny Amer and Freshman Nick Kropfelter, one of the best performers in local soccer circles.

Positions Open

The loss of Starlings and Filbert leaves two positions to be filled. Bish must find a fullback and goalie from among his candidates. Jim Laster performed in the goalie position several times last year and will probably step in to fill the gap. The fullback spot will likely be taken by one of the newcomers, or by shifting the old line-up.

One new opponent appears in the Greyhound schedule this season. The Hounds will travel to College Park on Thursday, October 23, to meet the University of Maryland soccer club. Bish doesn't know yet just how strong the Old Liners will be, but since they usually field a strong team he expects it to be one of the roughest games on the list.

Bill Carroll Pitches In Polo Grounds Game Has Six Days of Expense-Free Entertainment

Bill Carroll, Greyhound pitching ace, was picked as a member of the United States All-Star team which played the New York All-Stars at the Polo Grounds on August 13. The team was entertained in New York for six days before the game.

Using the Hotel New Yorker as a base of operations, the team visited Radio City, saw the fights at Madison Square Garden, met the mayor of New York, saw a Giant-Braves ball game, went to the theatre, the movies and to Coney Island. They also toured West Point and visited Bear Mountain.

Practice Sessions

Every morning, except Sunday and the day of the game, the twenty-three players composing the All-Star team practiced at either Yankee Stadium or the Polo Grounds. Afternoons and evenings were spent in "doing the town," with all expenses paid by a national chain of newspapers.

Seats for the ball game and the various plays and movies were always choice reserved ones, said Carroll, and their tickets for the Kochan-Fox fight at the Garden were ringside. "The rest of the folks stood in line," commented Bill, "but we just walked on in."

Wednesday Free

Wednesday, the day of the game, was left open for rest and relaxation before the night contest. At six o'clock the team traveled to the Polo Grounds and before 31,000 fans the game—the whole object of the trip in the first place—was played.

The United States All-Stars won the contest by an easy 13-2 margin with Carroll taking the mound in the eighth inning. All three opponents facing him were set down in easy order, two via the strike-out route and the third when he hit an easy roller to the hill which Bill fielded without difficulty.

Not Nervous

The presence of 31,000 spectators did not in the least unnerve him, confided Bill nonchalantly, although it did affect some of the boys early in the game. Neither did the knowledge that the game was being televised to countless other people throughout the country.

In addition to the free entertainment, the reserved seats and the celebrities whom the boys saw, each member of the team was allowed six dollars per day for spending money. Everything about the trip was nice, Bill conceded, but it wasn't hard to pick out the particular portion he enjoyed the most. That was Radio City Music Hall. "Ah, those Rockettes," he reminisced.

Basketball

Ticket System Explained 'Dates or Not' Is Question

Tickets

The Athletic Office has announced a new procedure to be used this year with regard to student books for the basketball season. Books may be picked up at the office in the gymnasium from Monday, September 15, until 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, November 15. Students who have not claimed their books by November 15 must pay full admission to see the games.

In order to procure his book, each student must present his registration card and a head photo of himself measuring approximately 1 1/4 inches by 1 1/2 inches. He will receive a book good for all home games except the two to be played in the Coliseum. Plans for a student section for both of these games are still being worked out.

New System

This year, instead of redeeming coupons ahead of time as in the past, students will receive tickets to the particular game they wish to attend the night of that game. Tickets will be available at the West ticket booth between 6:45 P.M. and 8:15 P.M. This box office will close at 8:15 and any tickets remaining will be transferred to the East ticket booth for public sale.

Student books will still be honored, together with the general public, after 8:15 at the East ticket booth on a first come—first served basis. Students arriving after the deadline must pick up their tickets at this booth.

Seats Reserved

The new system, according to Athletic Director Lefty Reitz, will be much fairer for all concerned and is expected to be more efficient than last year's system. It will also mean more sorely-needed support from early arrivals for the B Squad in their preliminary games.

"We do wish to make it clear," said Reitz, "that a seat in the students' section will positively be reserved at each home game for every man who picks up a student book before the November deadline."

Students who expect to pick up their season books are reminded once again that none will be issued unless a head photo of the student is presented at the time he asks for his book. For the benefit of new students, there is no charge for these books and they are not transferable.

Whatcha Done?

THE GREYHOUND is interested in finding out how sports-minded students of Loyola spent their Summer vacations. We know, for instance, that many of you were playing sandlot baseball and that still others were participating in various tennis tournaments both in and out of the city. We'd like to know how you made out.

This goes, not only for tennis and baseball, but also for any other athletic activity whatsoever. If you entered any swimming meets, played in any golf tournaments or dog-paddled from the foot of Pratt Street to Tolchester Beach we're interested. Drop into THE GREYHOUND office in the basement of the Library Building and tell one of the Sports Staff. In the event that no one is there, leave a note giving all details on the Sports Editor's desk.

Poll:

In view of the increased enrollment this year the Athletic Department is faced with an expected increase of attendance at home basketball games during the coming season. Students will be given first choice of seats under the following system.

Of approximately 1000 students enrolled this year, the Athletic Office—from statistics compiled last season—expects roughly 840 to pick up season books. If 840 do pick up books, then 840 seats will automatically be reserved for students in the gym. In other words, every student who picks up a student book will be guaranteed a seat in the gymnasium at each home game.

Sufficient Space

This reserved space will be sufficient for the number of students who have picked up books if they come alone, but in view of the large number who will probably wish to bring dates, parents or friends, the Athletic Office is conducting a poll today to determine whether or not the students desire to have an exclusive student section or wish to bring dates.

If you bring a date she will sit with you in the students' section, taking a seat reserved for another student. In this case, should everyone bring a date, only half the students holding books and their dates could be accommodated. There is a possibility that some students would not be able to see the game if this should happen.

Not Probable

In view of last year's attendance figures, however, it is probable that all students who wish to attend will be able to get in. Last year 670 students of an approximate 800 enrolled in the school picked up their season books. At no single game did all 670 of these men use their books.

The highest number of books presented for tickets for a single game was 421, the lowest 186. The average per game for the entire season was 286 tickets used at each game. This means that approximately 43 per cent of the student books were used at each game and approximately 35 per cent of the total enrollment of students in the College attended the average game. In other words, you and your date should be able to get in.

Another Explanation

If the figures confuse you, look at the situation this way. For most games students and date or friends will be able to sit together in either the South or East stands on a first come—first served basis. This is only probable though, based on past attendance figures. The Athletic Office can make no definite promises and has elected to let the students decide the issue themselves.

There will definitely be a seat waiting for you if you pick up a student book and come stag. If you decide to bring dates there may not be. The question is: Do you want dates at the basketball games or not? It's up to the student body to decide.

Mimeographed ballots will be distributed at noontime today in the cafeteria, the snack bar and in the basement of the Science Building. All students are urged to pick up a ballot, fill it out and drop it in the basket which will be provided. They are also asked to refrain from wisecracks and doodling on the ballots, since this is a serious question.

Francis J. Mueller

Mueller Joins Athletic Staff

Newest addition to the Greyhound athletic staff, according to Athletic Director Lefty Reitz, is Francis J. Mueller, a Loyola graduate of the class of 1943. Franny will assume guidance of the enlarged intramural program and may possibly assist in other sports.

Franny is a familiar figure to Loyola sports followers. During his stay at the college as an undergraduate he played on both the basketball and baseball teams. He was also president of the athletic association and originated the Block L Club.

After graduation the new assistant played professional baseball, interrupting this to enter the Navy. He served during the war as an engineer officer on an LCI in both the European and Mediterranean theatres.

Since his discharge from the Navy Franny has been doing post-graduate work at Johns Hopkins University, as well as assisting in the Veterans Administration office at Loyola. He also refereed several B Squad basketball games.

Ed. Note—Franny's plans for the intramurals, unlike anything the College has ever known before, are discussed on this page.

Mueller Announces Plans For Intramural Activities

Under the direction of Franny Mueller, who recently joined the athletic department of the College and has assumed full charge of the intramural program, a new greatly broadened program of intramural athletics is to be inaugurated at Loyola this year.

The most important innovation, according to Mueller, is the selection of an "Intramural Athlete of the Year," who will be picked by a point system touching all sports in the intramural circuit. Every student who participates will be eligible for the award, to be given at the close of the school year.

Points Awarded

The system by which the winner will be selected is patterned after that used in many colleges and universities for their intramural programs. A certain number of points are given to the contestants in each sport on a basis of participation, aptitude and the number of players engaged in that particular sport.

In addition to the individual awards, there will also be prizes for the winning teams in each sport and the winners of the tournaments planned by the intramural director.

Many Sports

Mueller plans to run football, basketball and softball leagues in season, supplementing these with tournaments in handball, ping-pong and tennis. There will be two tennis contests, one in the Fall and one next Spring. If a suitable location can be found there will also be a horseshoe tournament or possibly a league if interest is high enough.

In addition to these open tournaments the director of the program plans to hold class meets in track and swimming. Not only will individuals gain points for their respective classes in these events, but they also have an added opportunity to collect additional tallies for themselves towards winning the "Intramural Athlete of the Year" title.

Two Difficulties

Two possible difficulties are both-ering the organizers of this program at present. Conflicting schedules may result in trouble, but Mueller is confident that these can be worked out smoothly for all concerned. His chief worry is the possibility of a lack of response on the part of the students towards the program.

"We are open for any criticisms or suggestions," Franny stated. "We are also willing to conduct leagues or tournaments in any sport if a sufficient number of students wish to participate in that sport."

Directions for entering teams in the intramural activities listed for the Fall season will be published shortly by the athletic office, according to Mueller.

New Feature

With the next issue of THE GREYHOUND, the Sports Department plans to present an entirely new feature. In each issue during the coming year there will appear a picture and write-up of one of Loyola's outstanding athletes of the current season.

This feature is aimed especially at Freshmen and new students in the upper classes in order to familiarize them both with their fellow-students and with athletics at the College.

Rules Announced For Use Of All Athletic Facilities

The following regulations have been announced with regard to athletic facilities:

The Basketball Court

The basketball court will be available from Monday to Friday from 10:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. when the basketball season is not in progress. During the season it will be open for general student use from 10:30 A.M. to 3:30 P.M.

Regulation tennis shoes or basketball shoes must be worn at all times on the basketball floor, and street shoes with rubber soles are not permitted.

These conditions will prevail unless emergency measures such as cleaning or special events require that they be temporarily suspended.

The Swimming Pool

The swimming pool will be open from Monday to Friday from 9:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. except during swimming meets and practice sessions, or if the cleaning of the pool necessitates that it be closed temporarily.

Students must shower before entering the pool. There will be no dressing or undressing in the pool room. All clothes must be left in the locker room.

No one will be allowed to go swimming in the pool alone. There must be two or more persons in the pool room at all times.

Recreation Room

The "Rec" room will be open during school hours along with the Snack Bar. The opening and closing of this room will be regulated in conjunction with the Snack Bar. The "Rec" room offers ping pong, pool tables and lounging facilities for the comfort of the students.

Tennis Courts

The tennis courts will be available during the entire school day. Because of the new surface that has been put on the courts only regulation tennis shoes will be allowed. Along with other dressing gear, a jersey must be worn at all times.

Outside Facilities

The playing field, the track, the handball courts, etc., may be used on school days from 9:30 A.M. until the Gym is closed for the day. These conditions will exist unless Varsity, Junior Varsity or intramural sports necessitate their temporary suspension. Along with other dressing gear a jersey must be worn at all times while outside.

Three 'Mural Events Slated

Three intramural activities are scheduled to begin next week. A tennis tournament, open to all students who have not participated in intercollegiate tennis will be held on the College courts.

Balls will be provided by the athletic office, but racquets and other equipment must be supplied by the individual players. A medal will be awarded to the winner.

Entry Blanks

Entry blanks for this tournament will be found on the bulletin board in the Gymnasium or may be obtained in the office from Franny Mueller. Before the blank will be accepted it must contain the student's class schedule so that match times can be scheduled.

If sufficient student interest is shown Franny will also run a handball tournament. Matches, with one wall only being used, will be played on the handball court behind the Gymnasium. Winners will be given appropriate awards. Entry blanks for this tourney can be found on bulletin boards throughout the school.

Football League

The touch football league will also be open for applicants in the near future. Six man football teams will participate, but each squad may carry nine men in case some players cannot appear when games are listed, due to schedule conflicts.

Anyone wishing to submit a team to play in this touch football league should contact Mueller with the names of the members of his team. There will be awards for the winning team and points, as in other contests, towards the individual championship.

Changes Made In Student Library

Staff additions, increased shelf space and better lighting facilities were among changes announced for the college library during the Summer by Miss Mary Rose, new assistant librarian, last week.

To accommodate the growing number of books in the library, new stacks have been added to the window side of each section in the main library room. This change is expected to increase shelf space by one-fourth.

Additional Lights Coming

Overhanging lights on each of the sections and reading lamps for the tables will be added as soon as the fixtures arrive.

A graduate of Marywood College, Miss Rose is the second full-time librarian to be added within a year. Miss Ann Finan, also a Marywood graduate, assumed duties last Summer.

Suggestions Welcome

"We intend to add more light fiction to the library next year," Miss Rose said, "and any suggestions the students have as to books they would like to see in the library will be welcome."

Alumni Bowlers Ready To Begin

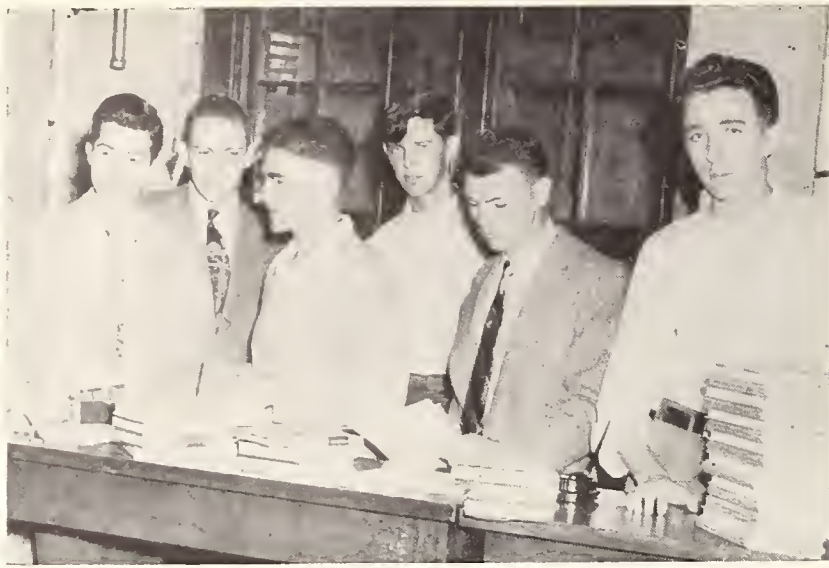

Eight teams of six men each have been organized in the newly-formed Loyola College Alumni Bowling League, according to Franny Mueller, acting chairman of the league. This being the goal for the initial year, the entries have been closed, although the organization will expand next season.

Competition will begin at the Charles Bowling Alley on September 25 at 9 o'clock with appropriate ceremonies to mark the occasion. The league will run until May 6, at which time a banquet will be held and prizes and trophies awarded.

The league will meet each Thursday evening to bowl with the exception of the nights of the Texas Wesleyan and Mount Saint Mary's basketball games. There will be two rounds during the season with a roll-off of the winners of each round scheduled at the end of the season to determine the champion.

Captains of the eight teams, according to Mueller are: Joe Donorue '40, Joe Gessler '44-'45, George J. Miller '43, Jack Dorsch '43, Charley Bitterli '43, Paul Kircher '35, Henry Zerhusen '47, and a combination of Charles Broderick '39 and Carl Gottschalk '41.

Team captains are asked to select names for their particular teams before the opening of the season.

Part of the registration week crowd buys its texts for the coming term. Bookstore facilities were augmented last week for the first week rush period by using classroom 1F, Loyola's "Little Theatre," for a pro tem bookstore. Veteran 'bookies' Austin Byrd and Robert Gallagher received aid on the behind-the-counter side from Joseph Happel and Charles Shoemaker.

Invading Group Checked By Vigilance Committee

Evergreen, Sept. 11—Reports issued late today by the Supreme Headquarters, Sophomore Class, give high hopes that the flood of immigrants to the campus would be soon under control. Already, according to James Bowen, class president, a system for identifying the newcomers has been worked out.

The foreigners, who appeared on the campus for the first time last week, now number well over 300. Sophomore Class spies, cleverly disguising themselves by assuming dull facial expressions, mingled in with the group, and have reported the newcomers to be totally ignorant of the customs and laws of Evergreen.

Assimilation Program Planned

For purposes of "organizing a program for the speedy and painless assimilation of the outlanders into the ranks of peaceful citizenry" a Vigilance Committee has been named. The committee is headed by James Lally. Other members include: Robert Custer, Rodge Kines and Robert Sweeney.

Members of the upper classes have been informed that beginning Monday, September 15, immigrants can be easily identified by their apparel (green skull caps bearing the numeral 50 and green bow ties) and tags bearing their names and the praenomen: 'pup.' These uniforms were eagerly purchased by the pups at cost. (Two dollars.)

Special Routes Laid Out

A list of regulations regarding the conduct of the pups was distributed to every member of the group late last week. Sources close to the Sophomore General Staff emphasized that these regulations, far from being discriminatory or intolerant, were drawn up for the immigrants' own good.

They include the provision of special entrances (via the basement) to all buildings, and also special routes (not on the grass) for travel between buildings. Pups were advised to memorize the Evergreen National Songs and a special poem known as the Freshmen Bill of Rights in preparation for citizenship exams.

Some Are Exempt

Veteran members of the new group are not required to follow the

Annual Plans May 15 Issue

Progress in the preparation of the 1948 Evergreen Annual was made during the Summer recess it was announced this week. There were several meetings of the editorial board headed by J. Allan Panuska, at which the size and contents of the books were decided.

The Business Staff, under the direction of Samuel W. Hasson, Jr., had stationery and ad blanks printed, and the work of contacting advertisers by mail and in person was begun.

Present plans call for the distribution of the book on May 15. Photographs and write-ups for the classes graduating in January, May and July will be included in the volume.

NSO Stresses United Front

Dudley Shoemaker, accompanied by his recent bride, the former Charlotte Otter, attended the National Student Organization convention at Madison, Wisconsin on August 30. Shoemaker, who is the President of Loyola's Student Council, was joined at Madison by the representatives of 350 colleges and universities throughout the United States.

The purpose of the convention was to write a constitution for the newly organized group and to stress the domestic aspects of the student situation. Sponsors of the group stated that they want the organization to be non-political and non-sectarian but militant in support of student welfare everywhere.

The N. S. O. will seek to strengthen student government on the campuses. It is hoped that it will serve as a contribution to democracy by making student government a laboratory of democracy.

Annual Retreat Dates Listed

This year's annual Freshmen Retreat will begin on Wednesday, September 17. Services will be held in the Gymnasium. The Retreat will close on September 19.

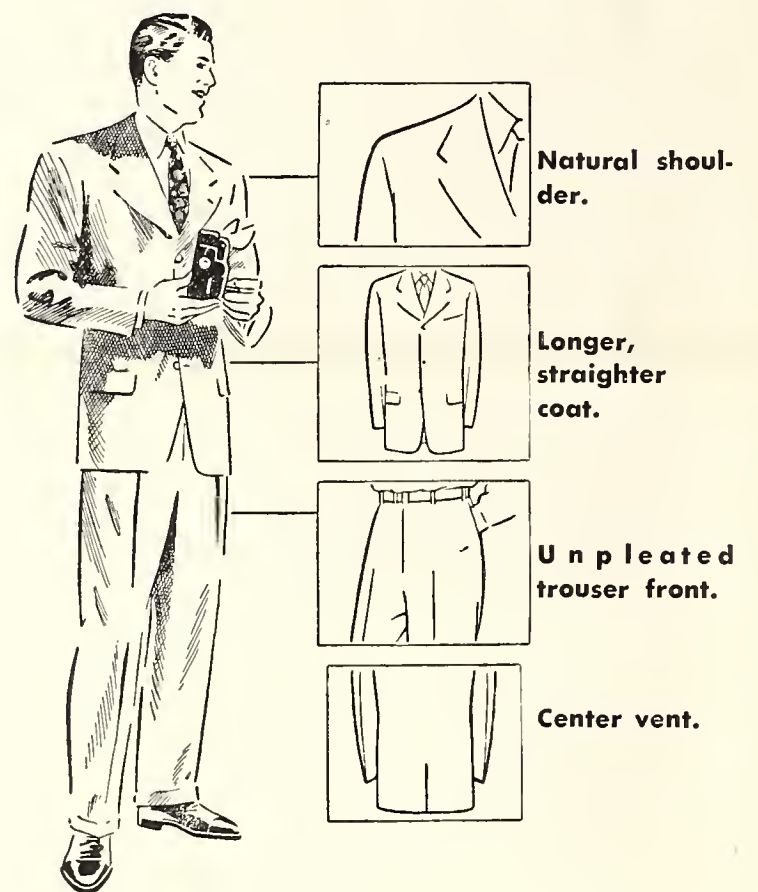

The Upperclassmen Retreat will be held the following week from September 24 to 26. Both retreats will be conducted by members of the Jesuit Mission Group.

Non-catholic students of the College will attend a series of lectures on "A Philosophy of Life." The lectures will be conducted by members of the faculty.

Individual seats in the Gymnasium will be assigned to students making the retreats. The daily schedules will begin with the Sacrifice of the Mass and continue with periods of instruction, spiritual reading and Stations of the Cross.

Members of the Senior Class will also attend a retreat to be held at Manresa during December.
